WILL BUILD ADDITION TO CHURCH

GYMNASIUM A FEATURE

Tile Structure 40 feet by 90—Plans For Addition Announced Last Night at Meeting.

An addition to the First Christian church, a tile structure, about 40 by 90 feet, one story high, will be built on the north side of the present church building within the next sixty days under the auspices of the Men's Bible class. The building will be placed on the lot recently given the First Christian church by Mrs. Charles T. Bell.

A combined class room and gymnasium will be the feature of the building. The Men's Bible class has out-grown its quarters in the present building, and the new building is being built with the idea of convenience to the class and adding a place for athletics, social gatherings and large banquets.

The building will be a fire proof structure costing about $3,000. Good material will be used and a substantial building will be built but the Bible class has in mind rather a temporary structure. If within the next fifty years, a new church is built, this same material and building can be used in the new building.

Plans for the addition were announced at a meeting of the Men's Bible class held last night at the church. The committee in charge is composed of Rev. R. E. Snodgrass, Edward Wright Gray, president of the class; Frank Orcutt, Fred Robinson, Ralph Palmer, Lloyd Geist, E. W. Glenn. At a previous meeting, this committee was appointed for the purpose of finding new quarters for the Men's class, and made its report last night.

DIRECTORS ARE CONSIDERING AGRICULTURE FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Amount Federal Aid at This Time Uncertain—Faculty to be Announced in 2 Weeks.

The board of directors of the Maryville high school are considering adding agriculture to the curriculum for next year, according to E. E. Williams, a member of the board. It has not been definitely decided upon, however, because the amount of federal aid is uncertain at this time. This is such a popular course among the high schools of the state that it is difficult to give the necessary aid to all of them. If some time must be decreased from the $1,800 supposed to be appropriated because there are so many clamoring for agriculture. This is really the only new course with a new instructor contemplated for next year, according to Mr. Williams.

The instructors for the high school were elected at the board of directors meeting Saturday night and the contracts handed to the superintendent. The instructors wil be given until the next regular meeting, which will be in two weeks, to sign or not. After that meeting the high school faculty for next year will be announced. The superintendent, L. E. Ziegler, and Principal H. O. Ezell were elected at a meeting the week before.

RED CROSS GARMENTS INCREASE

WOMEN NEEDED TO MAKE UP MATERIAL DONATED

W. C. T. U. CONTRIBUTE

Mrs. Jesse Robertson Chairman Maryville Committee—Is Assisting Mrs. Bellows.

The garments for the destitute children of Europe are growing in number, according to Mrs. Jesse Robertson but still other women are needed to make the material into dresses and petticoats, which has been donated by the Haines and Yehle Dry Goods Companies. The garments are simple and take but little time Mrs. Robertson says and the committee is anxious to get the quota of garments off before the warm weather sets in. They are badly needed and should be shipped with out delay.

Up to date Mrs. Robertson has had about 20 garments turned in to her from the Maryville women. The material may be had at any time from her or the Red Cross office. The W. C. T. U. members have made nine petticoats, five of these were by Mrs. S. N. Wolcott; three by Mrs. E. B. Thompson and Mrs. C. A. McCopplin two. Miss Anna Bainum's Domestic Science class made two dresses and five petticoats. Mrs. Augustus Romasser made one of the petticoats. Mrs. C. D. Bellows is chairman of the volunteer service for Nodaway County and is in touch with some of the women's organizations, in the county which sewed during the war for the Red Cross. Quotas of garments have been sent in from several of these.

"The quota for the county is not large so there would not be a great many garments for the Maryville women to make," said Mrs. Robertson. "It would not take very much of any woman's time to become a member of the volunteer service committee. It would not begin to entail the work that it did during the war. The making of one garment, perhaps, would constitute the service for a year."

Calls are being made on many different organizations for sewing all over the country that help may be sent to the children over seas. Maryville is being asked to contribute through the Red Cross.

CHAUTAUQUA COMMITTEE MEETS

DISCUSS PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN THIS SUMMER IN AUG.

202 GUARANTORS SIGN

16 Different Programs Planned—Redpath-Vawter Representative Here Today.

The executive committee for the Maryville Chatauqua met in the office of the president of the guarantors, G. B. Roseberry, this afternoon to discuss the number offered for this summer's chatauqua. Harry D. Kies of the Redpath-Vawter Company was in town today conferring with the guarantors. There are 202 persons who have signed the guarantee. The executive committee, which transacts the business for the guarantors is as follows: President G. B. Roseberry; secretary-treasurer, F. P. Robinson; other members, Harry Todd, C. M. Hartness, James Carpenter, and E. M. Houchens. The chatauqua will open August 5 and will not close until August 11. In that time 16 different numbers will be given, two morning lectures, seven afternoon programs and seven evening programs.

Mr. Kies who is on his annual advance trip brought word of the coming Carmen Pascova, the mezzo-soprano, who has made such a hit in Chicago and New York recently with the Chicago Grand Opera Company.

Pascova, of whom Musical America recently said, "Austria has given to America three great artists, Melba, Percy Grainger, and now, Carmen Pascova," will have associated with her this summer, Florence Hardeman and Stewart Wille. Together they will give a program which the Redpath folks believe to be one of the best of its kind. Pascova in one week during her stay in Chicago was chosen for as many as five leading parts in grand opera there. She has had frequent appearances in duet with Galli-Curci. Her voice is being reproduced by the Pathe phonograph company.

Miss Hardeman has been for four years solo violinist with John Phillips Sousa, and has been chosen to accompany him on his tour to South America. Stewart Wille is one of America's most accomplished pianists.

"Broadway Jones" Big Comedy

"Broadway Jones," the play in which George Cohan starred for a record run in New York several years ago is the big dramatic feature. Best of all, William Kieghley, a favorite of other years, will play the stellar role. The play deals with a fellow named "Broadway" who burned up Broadway in a continous round of joy, and then all of a sudden found himself broke. Nine New York players will demonstrate the plot.

Music lovers will also rejoice in the announcement of the Gondoliers' a musical production, featuring eleven artists in elaborate stage settings, lighting effects and costume songs. This company is organized and staged byArthur Dunham, founder and conductor of the Philharmonic Orchestra of Chicago, and conductor of the Boston English Opera company.

The Weatherwax Brothers quartette will be back again.

ROAD BOND MONEY EQUITABLE DIVIDED

DELEGATIONS HERE IN FAVOR OF COUNTY'S SHARE.

NO PAVED HIGHWAYS

Meeting Called by Rep. Miller to Get Suggestions and Ideas Well Attended.

Nodaway County is in favor of getting their proportionate share for well graded dirt roads out of the the 60 million dollar bond issue according to the expressions from the delegations in attendance at the roads meetings held at the court house this afternoon. The meeting was well attended and had the roads been good many more people would have attended. Five townships were not represented.

The meeting was called to order by Representative Jesse Miller who stated that his purpose in having such a meeting was to get the suggestions and ideas of the people he was representing. E. C. Wolfers of Hopkins was selected as chairman and O. R. Proctor of Conception Junction as secretary. M. E. Ford of this city discussed some phases of the bond issue and the fact that the action of the legislature might be subjected to referendum if such action was not favorable to the people.

Jefferson township was in favor of adopting the same resolutions as were adopted at a good roads meeting held in Worth county recently. These resolutions were opposed to the plan of primary and secondary roads and urge a system of inter-county seat highways.

The sentiment of the people present seems to be for Representative Miller to use his best endeavor to see that this county get their share, and that they were opposed to a hard surfaced road between St. Louis and Kansas City.

George and Jimmie and John ascended to the top of the 265 foot smokestack that adorns the Chicago surface lines powerhouse. It was easy going up, all they had to do was put one foot ahead of the other on the rungs of an iron ladder that was imbedded in the bricks of the chimney.

At the top of the stack, looking down however, it was different. The boys became terror-stricken and dizzy. Two policemen blindfolded the lads and carried them down from their eerie perch.

Missouri State News

St. Louis, Mo. April 19,—Employes of the Missouri Pacific Railroad have flatly rejected the proposal of officials of the company for a reduction in wages of from 21 to 23 percent, recently granted increase by the Railway Labor Board. The 8,000 unskilled laborers employed by the company have been receiving an average of 40 to 59 cents per hour.

Earnings of the railroad company are insufficient to maintain the present scale, it is pointed out by the company, and living costs have been so much lowered as to make possible exsistance on lower wages. The road will show deficits of $540,000 in January and $797,000 in February, besides $6,000,000 in bills payable, it was pointed out.

Employes answer this contention by declaring that the laying off of large numbers of men last October created a surplus of labor when household expenses were high and enabled employers in other lines to hire men at "practically their own price," thus bringing about the lower wages in other industries cited as a justification of reduction in railroad wages.

Moberly, Mo. April 16,—The all-absorbing question of whether B. F. Self wears socks is an unsolved mystery. The assertion that Self is a sockless person was made in Washington by Congressman who quote l L. W. Kelly, who is opposing Self for appointment as Third Assistant Postmaster General.

Kelley, according to the Congressmen, cited the absence of Self's socks as a reason why he should not be appointed.

"I wont say whether Kelly's statement is true," declares Self. "But if it is that is the worst Kelley can say of me, I won't deny it. I wish you'l ask Kelley if he wears socks all the time."

If Self is appointed, he probably will become famous as "Sockless Self," as did the late Congressman "Sockless Jerry" Simpson of Kansas.

St. Louis, April 19,—Usurla Broederick, pretty 17-year-old confessed slayer of her father Thomas Broderick and her stepfather Joseph Woodlosk, is going to take a cruise on the sea of matrimony. She has been granted a license to wed Daniel B. Miller of Atlanta, Ga., youthful printer.

Miss Broderick shot her father to death in 1916. A Coroner's jury held the killing to be justified homicide. For the shooting to death of her stepfather Joseph Woodlock, she is under sentence of ten years imprisonment. She is free on bond, pending an appeal from the verdict to the Missouri Supreme Court.

NEW COUNTY FAIR AID LAW WILL HELP FAIRS

30 Per Cent of First $1,000 Premiums Will be Paid by State—To Induce Fairs to be Held.

Since Governor Arthur M. Hyde has signed the McKay-Head-Pickett-Belken "State Aid" Bill for the fostering of County Fairs and Grain Shows in no-fair counties, the general subject of county fairs in Missouri will take on new interest.

Under Missouri House Bill 481 (Senate Bill 354) the state will refund to County Fairs 30 per cent of the first thousand dollars premiums or $300.00, and if the county court matches the $300.000 then the state will pay an additional $100.000 or a maximum total of $400.000, thus making it possible for a County Fair to secure state and county aid to the amount of $700.00 annually.

This new law pays 30 per cent of the premiums of Grain Shows, that is the premiums on grains, in county-wide shows held in counties where there is no County Fair.

Missouri has had a state aid to county fairs law since 1913, but in the year 1917 this law was found to be unconstitutional, and no county fair has received state aid since the ending of 1916. A new bill was enacted by the legislature of 1919 to correct the constitutional fault, but it was vetoed by Governor F. D. Gardner.

The 1921 Act is by far the best of the three laws that have been passed by the General Assembly of Missouri because (1st) it is constitutional because the appropriations are made through the State Board or Department of Agriculture instead of the old plan of trying to appropriate direct to the incorporated fair, (2nd) because it offers an inducement to county courts to match money with the state government, and (3rd) because it provides state aid for grain premiums in counties without County Fairs. The state agricultural department is delegated with large authority in the administration of this new law.

has finally been tempted to make a western tour, and will present one of her dramatic recitals for which the name is famous all over the East. Mr. Vawter considers her the greatest interpretive recitalist in America.

A blaze of glory is promised for the final night of chautauqua, "Joy Night," which is to be a continuous, rapid-fire affair, featuring Jess Fugh. Billy Pryor, the famous blacked face comedian, Al Baker, the 'king of ventriloquists," and Youna, renowned juggler, will start off the fun.

Strong "Battery" of Brainy Speakers

A veritable "battery" of big men will be here this summer.

Quin O'Brien, the Chicago orator, has announced his subject for this summer, "America's World Leadership." Mr. O'Brien is considered "one of the six greatest orators in America."

Among some of the headliners is Gov. Chas. H. Brough of Arkansas. Gov. Brough is one of the South's strongest leaders. He comes direct from the gubernatorial chair with a stirring address on present problems.

Farmer Burns, former heavyweight champion wrestler of the world, has been obtained for a talk on good health and its connection with clean and proper living. "Billy" Sunday says, "Farmer Burns is the greatest athlete of all time." He is a living example of what clean living will do for a man.

Granville Jones, who has been likened to Abraham Lincoln, a tall gaunt, imposing orator of the old school, hardened in the fires of intelligent loyal Americanism, gives an eloquent address on "The Creed of Democracy."

David D. Vaughn of Boston University, who spent seven years as pastor in the Halsted district of Chicago, brings some new things to think about in his gripping, "The Man in Overalls."

Dr. Robt. MacGowan, the eloquent preacher of Pittsburg, will give a great inspiring address, "The Creed of the Flag."

Harry Webb Farrington, a new light in the field of poetry, author of "Poems from France," and has an interesting hour with American literature.

Dr. Richard S. Martin, successor to Bishop Robert MacIntyre of Chicago, will speak on the present problems of the church.

Mr. Kies announces also a larger and more elaborate Junior Chautauqua. "Junior Town," a delightful plan that has captured Eastern chatauquas for the last five years, has been adopted. "A Mother Goose Party" and a "Junior Alumni" stunt are other features. A special Junior program with special talent for the kiddies, also, is promised.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XXV.—ARKANSAS

ARKANSAS was named after the river which flows diagonally through this state and is one of the chief tributaries of the Mississippi. It is said that the early settlers found in this territory, an Indian tribe named Arkansas, but the actual meaning of the word is not known. It probably has some relation to the word Kansas. There has been much confusion as to the correct pronunciation of Arkansas. To remove this as far as possible a resolution was passed by the state senate in 1881 which specified that the true pronunciation was "Ar-kan-saw."

Originally Arkansas was a part of the Louisiana Purchase. Its first settlement was made by the French about 1685. Except for the few years during which by secret treaty it was ceded to Spain, it remained under French rule, until purchased by the United States in 1803. For nearly ten years after this, it was a part of Louisiana territory. With the admission of the State of Louisiana in 1812 this northern section was formed into the Missouri territory. In 1819 there was another partition and Arkansas territory was created, which included the present state and what later was called Indian territory.

Due to the reports of an early explorer named Pike, who visited this region in 1806, the incorrect idea was generally accepted that most of the expanse of plains east of the Rockies was a vast desert. This idea persisted to such an extent that as late as 1850 the western plains were called in the school geographies "The Great American Desert." Adventurous settlers, especially from the South, found conditions in Arkansas quite otherwise, however, and by 1838 Arkansas was admitted as the twenty-fifth state of the Union with an area of 53,335 square miles.

The natural resources of the state are considerable. There are the mineral springs of medicinal value, which have been placed under governmental control at Hot Springs.

HOLLISTER ASSAILS TAX ASSESSMENTS

STATE TAXES WILL BE INCREASED ABOUT 50 PERCENT

REFERENDUM FIGHT ON

Chairman Yancey Issues Calls To Democratic County Chairmen For Meetings

Jefferson City, April 19.—W. R. Hollister, director of the Democratic movement to call a referendum on the Republican state legislative program, issued a statement here today citing figures which he declared proved that state taxes would be increased a little more than 50 per cent under the increased assessment fixed by the state board of equalization.

Mr. Hollister denied assertions made by Governor Hyde in an address in St. Louis last Wednesday that the tax increase would amount to only 15 per cent. He declared that total receipts in 1921 from state taxes would approximate $6,522,479.36 or an increase of $2,179,313.22 over the yearly average under the Gardner administration.

"During the four years of Governor Gardner's administration," the statement said, "collections for all purposes amounted to $17,372,648, or an average of $4,343,171.

"The total assessment of real and personal property for 1920 was $2,471,746,046. This assessment has been raised to $4,467,451,682, or an increase of about 80 per cent.

"Upon this new assessment all levies made in Missouri under state law must be paid. The taxes authorized by existing state law include 10 cents for state revenues, three-fifths of 1 cent for school interests, 2 cents for capitol bonds, and 2 cents for pensions for the blind, or a total of 14.6 cents on the $100 valuation.

"The governor ignores the fact that these levies must all be charged against the new assessment, and not the 10 cents for state revenues only.

"The total receipts from these levies in 1921, if the tax rate indicated remains unchanged and the assessments are not changed, will amount approximately to $6,522,479, or an increase over the Gardner average of $2,179,313, just a little over 50 per cent."

Chairman C. E. Yancey of the Democratic state committee sent out notices today to the various county chairmen to call county meetings for next Saturday, at which time the referendum petitions, for the submission of the Kansas City legislation acts, the judicial redistricting bill and Governor Hyde's bill consolidating the various state departments will be ready for circulation for signatures to submit all of these measures to a vote of the people. The idea of the chairman is that the various county and city committeemen will see to it that the petitions are circulated with little or no cost to the state committee, as the latter has been dead broke since the close of the last state campaign.

About fifty thousand Signatures will be required to each of the petitions. If the county chairman and the local members of the committee take hold of the petitions, as the state chairman says they undoubtedly will do, the necessary number of signatures ought to be obtained in a short time.

HINDU IDEA OF "SEVEN SEAS"

Writer in Boston Herald Shows That Expression Is Older Than the English Language.

The question as to the origin and meaning of the term "The Seven Seas" having been raised in this column, I am surprised, says a writer in the Boston Herald, that as yet no one has called attention to the fact that the expression is far older than the English language, antedating even the science of geography as we understand it. In prehistoric Hindu thought our world consists as to its solid parts of seven concentric, continental Dvipas, whose names are Jambu, Plaksha, Salmali, Kusa, Krauncha, Saka and Pushkara. According to the sacred Vishnu Purana: "They are surrounded severally by seven great seas—the sea of salt water (Lavana), of sugar-cane juice (Ikshu), of wine (Sura), of clarified butter (Sarpis), or curds (Dadhi), of milk (Dugdha), and of fresh water (Jala). Jambu-dvipa is the center of all these, and in the copies of this is the golden mountain Meru." Jambu is the dvipa occupied by human beings. Meru the indescribably glorious north polar mountain by which the portal to the heaven or heavens is attainable.

In oriental literature, therefore, the expression "the seven seas" has no reference to the bodies of water named seas by our geographers, but is an interesting survival of the geocentric world view which we of the western nations have lost, but which all orthodox Brahmins and Buddhists still hold sacred and true. Its recent appearance in occidental literature is doubtless more due to Kipling than to any other writer.

BELIEF HAS NO FOUNDATION

Conjunction of the Rising of the Dog-Star and the Sun Doesn't Bring Extreme Heat.

"Dog days" was the name given by astronomers to the 20 days before and 20 days after the rising of the dog-star, or Sirius, with the sun. This period is reckoned at present from the 3d of July to the 11th of August.

For years it was the accepted opinion that this conjunction of the rising of the dog-star and the sun was one of the causes for the extreme heat of the summer. This conjunction, however, does not occur at the same time in all latitudes, nor is it constant in the same region for a long period; hence there is much variation as to the limits of the dog-star period.

It is a mere coincidence that the rising of Sirius and the sun occurs during the hottest season of the year just now. In time, astronomers say, it will take place in the midst of winter.

Sirius is called the dog-star because it is the brightest luminary in the constellation "canis major" or Greater Dog.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Perfect in One Particular.

The old and highly esteemed coachman of a family has at last resigned himself to a pension and a lodge-gate keeper's duties—if he is by no means resigned to the sight of the chauffeur who now reigns in his stead. The blow of the loss of his post has been softened slightly by the presentation of a handsome portrait, or, as he calls it, "likeness," of himself in full regalia, a pair of his favorite horses cavorting nobly under his whip. The old man is right well pleased with the effect, and so is his good dame, though, when questioned as to the portrait's resemblance to her husband, her answer was somewhat equivocal. "Very like," she said, "but particular the buttons."—London Tit-Bits.

Croesus' Immense Wealth.

Croesus was king of Lydia in the middle of the sixth century before Christ, and, while most of our men of affluence began in comparative poverty, he inherited riches gathered by a long line of wealthy ancestors, each of whom combined in his own person financier, monopolist and king.

Croesus, who inherited a fortune steadily increasing through many generations, had control of wide realms of agriculture, rich mines and the commerce of wealthy and populous nations. If the monopoly of a single industry can now produce hundreds of millions in a single generation, what could measure the wealth coming from a monopoly of many industries for nearly two centuries?

Philosopher Exonerated.

Jean Jacques Rousseau, son of a watchmaker, born in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1712, is one of Geneva's best-known celebrities. He disapproved of the unjust distinction then made between the aristocracy and the poorer classes, and as champion of the latter he exposed his convictions in the "Contrat Social," which, together with his "Emile," was committed to the flames by the public executioner. But the very descendants of his fierce opponents erected a statue in his honor on the tiny island which he—as an almost pious devotee of nature—loved so much, and which is now known as Rousseau's isle.

The Society Invasion.

"He looks somewhat embarrassed."

"Not more so than the referee. He was so flabbergasted he addressed Spike' as 'mister.'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

THE NEW MAID

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS.

(©, 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Donald Sinclair picked up the magazine that had been left in the subway, idly. He had no special interest in it; it had merely been occupying the space where he wished to sit.

Back in his mind, but not in so exaggerated a proportion as to mar his outlook, was the wish that he was going home to a well-regulated household, to a dinner nicely served in their own small dining room instead of one that his sister Jean had had to prepare after her own hard day's work. Both he and Jean detested having meals outside and Jean preferred coming home late from the office and preparing dinner rather than to trail out to a restaurant.

Their experience with housekeepers had been unsuccessful.

It was with a very grave delight then that Donald found the magazine he had picked up so idly to contain something that pointed the road to happiness. A letter of recommendation, apparently lost by its owner, was sticking between the pages of the magazine. It read:

"To whom it may concern: This is to state that Gladys Turner has been in my employ as general housekeeper for three years. She is an excellent cook, is strictly honest, neat, clean and a splendid manager. She is leaving my employ only because my son has fallen in love with her, and made it trying for her with his attentions. She has my highest recommendation."

The letter was signed and the telephone and address of the writer added.

Donald did not confide in Jean until his plans should be perfected.

The outcome was that Gladys Turner called at the office of Sinclair & Co. and was ushered in for an interview with Donald.

She was neatly dressed and very nicely spoken.

"My sister and I are out all day—my sister being the editor of a woman's magazine. I want very much to have you take entire charge of the home, planning meals and everything done that will leave my sister entirely free from worry. I will pay you $100 a month, and there is a very dainty room in our apartment for you. We are not in any way difficult people," he added with a rare smile.

Gladys Turner fidgeted in her chair and tried to speak easily, but her task was hard. Finally she found her voice.

"I—I have never worked in this way," she confessed. "That letter is part of a story I am writing, but—I am not too well fixed financially, and really am honest and a splendid cook and could manage your household very easily." She looked up at Donald, awaiting his verdict.

That she had quite taken away his breath was a self-evident fact.

"All I ask," she added a trifle wistfully, "is to be left alone to write when I am finished with your work."

"That seems little enough to ask," Donald said out of the maze of his thoughts.

So it happened that an evening later Jean arrived home after a weary day to find a daintily set table, a beautifully cooked meal and a neat girl in spotless apron ready to serve her and her brother in their own dining room.

Donald had sprung many happy surprises on his sister, but this crowned them all. It was like a dream come true.

"Are you quite, quite sure I will not awaken to have to run out and get a few chops, a baker's cake and some tinned vegetables for our dinner?" she questioned Donald.

"Not this time, sis. The way I got that girl would almost make a movie plot. I'll tell you all about it later."

And Gladys reached a splendid contentment in the home of the Sinclairs. She had hours of uninterrupted concentration, and her material was finding ready markets.

Donald began to feel terribly aggrieved that he was excluded from the long confabs held between Jean and Gladys.

Donald was pacing the floor in lonesome wrath. He frowned darkly, then beamed as suddenly.

He strode into the hall and pounded on that closed door.

"Well—what's the idea?" asked Jean.

"Nothing, except that I am just darned lonesome. I want to go to the movies and no one will go with me."

Jean laughed. "We didn't hear ourselves being invited or even expressing a dislike for movies."

"Well," blurted Donald. "I didn't want Gladys to leave her position for the same reason as she left the other." He looked boyishly but very pleadingly at the two women he loved most on earth.

She had known this was coming and hoped for its early settlement, but Donald's way was a bit unusual. She smiled up at him. Her eyes then lingered on the blushing girl who had risen to such splendid heights both as a woman and a writer.

There was a lovely glow in the girl's eyes as she looked up.

"I have not as yet been annoyed by attentions," she said softly.

"But look out from now on," laughed Donald, and swept both women into a great bear hug.

OSCAR IS THRIFTY

Be thrifty and save the little things and they will grow into big things. This is a favorite maxim of Oscar Fisher, an Ohio city mail carrier. Starting less than a year ago, Mr. Fisher began saving the pieces of twine with which small bundles of letters are bound. The ball grew until at the time this photograph was made it was two feet in diameter and weighed a little over 64 pounds. Mr. Fisher estimates that the small pieces, which are tied together, would stretch over three miles.

Cattle And Hogs Advance Moderately—Big Advance In Lambs

Kansas City Stock Yards, April 19

The storm which spread over all sections of the west late last week cut down receipts of hogs and sheep and caused moderate runs of cattle for today's market. Prices were strong to higher in all departments. Cattle were steady to 25 cents higher, hogs up to 10 to 25 cents and sheep up 25 cents with lambs 25 to 50 cents higher. More eastern markets had fairly liberal receipts, as the movement there preceded the storm.

Today's Receipts

Receipts today were 10,000 cattle, 4500 hogs, and 5000 sheep, compared with 15,000 cattle, 13500 hogs, and 7500 sheep a week ago, 7850 cattle, 5250 hogs, and 8900 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle

Receipts of fat cattle today were below expectations, and though Chicago reported liberal supplies and a slow trade, prices here were strong to a shade higher with a good clearance reported. Most steers were quoted stronger. Some light and medium weights were 10 to 15 cents higher. Mixed yearlings in extreme cases were 25 cents higher. Yearlings sold up to $8.65, heavy steers up to $8.40, and the bulk of the killing grades $7.50 to $8.25. Cows and heifers were strong to 25 cents higher, with demand active. Veal calves sold readily at steady prices.

Stockers And Feeders

Receipts of thin cattle were fairly liberal and trade was quiet. The better grades were fully steady, and the ordinary kinds sold slowly and a shade lower. The recent cold weather reduced demand temporarily.

Hogs

The hog market late last week was near the low level of the past five years, but reduced receipts today brought more urgency to demand. Prices rallied 15 to 25 cents. The top was $8.60, and bulk of sales $7.75 to $8.50. Pigs were 25 cents higher at $8.00 to $9.00. An early clearance was effected. Light receipts are in sight for the rest of this week.

Sheep And Lambs

Urgent demand developed in the sheep division. Lambs were mostly 50 cents higher and sheep up 25 cents. The best lambs sold up to $10.00, the highest price in the past three weeks. Ewes are quoted at $5.50 to $6.50, and yearlings $7.50 to $8.50.

Horses And Mules

Receipts of horses and mules today were smaller than a week ago, but demand was small at unchanged prices. The general dullness in the market was attributed to the recent storm which cut down demand.

WHICH NEW BOOK IS MOST POPULAR? ALL OF THEM.

Two Women Nearly Came To Blows Over H. G. Wells' History—"Main Street" Has Many Calls

"Which of the new books is the most popular?" Miss Grace Langan, librarian was asked. "All of them" was the reply. "They are out all of the time. This applies to the new historical works as well as the fiction. Two women nearly came to blows the other day over H. G. Wells' History of the World. This is in two volumes and one of the most worth while additions to the library."

There really have been more calls perhaps for Sinclair Lewis' "Main Street," than any work of fiction because it has been so widely advertised both in book reviews and paid advertising. Nearly every day a newspaper or magazine article has some reference to Gopher Prairie or Main Street.

"Theodore Roosevelt And His Time," by Joseph B. Bishop just has arrived and will no doubt be as popular as the other Roosevelt books. Curwood's "River's End" and "Village of Silent Men" Lincoln's "Portygee" have been called for many times.

"Who's Who in America" as well as "Who's Who," have arrived and are on the shelves of the library for reference work. Maryville is represented in "Who's Who in America" by Homer Croy.

The books are being placed on the shelves as fast as they arrive.

Person Guests.

Mrs. W. H. Person of Stanton, Neb., mother of Dr. R. C. Person, of this city, went to Omaha Saturday for a visit with relatives. Dr. Person accompanied her on the trip, returning to Maryville last night. He was accompanied home by an aunt, Mrs. Helen Abell of Sterling, Ill., who will visit here at the Person home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schwartz of Centralia, Ill., announce the birth of a daughter Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz are former Maryville residents, leaving here for Centralia just a year ago.

GREAT PROGRAM PLANNED FOR JOURNALISM WEEK

Columbia, April 19.—The program for the 1921 Journalism Week at the University of Missouri, announced today, calls for five days crowded with lectures, discussions, exhibits, movies and plays dealing with journalistic topics, in addition to the usual social functions.

The annual banquet that closes the week will be known this year as the Nationally Advertised Banquet. Its nature is to be made known later.

The dates for the week are Monday, May 23, to Friday, May 27.

Two state organizations of journalists will combine their semi-annual conventions with the Journalism Week program. The Missouri Writers' Guild will meet in Columbia Monday, May 23, and the Missouri Press Association Thursday and Friday, May 26 and 27.

The program for the Writers' Guild convention already contains the following items: "The Making of a Magazine," as seen from an editor's viewpoint, by Miss Renee B. Stern, editor Woman's Weekly, Chicago; "The History of a Manuscript," by Frank C. Reighter, Philadelphia; "The Lure," by Mrs. Elizabeth P. Milbank, Chillicothe, Mo.; and "Bumps," by Dale M. Brown, St. Joseph.

In addition there will be talks by Miss Shirley L. Seifert of St. Louis, a contributor to the Saturday Evening Post; by Mrs. Louise Platt Hauck of St. Joseph; and by Mrs. Grace Reeve Fennell of St. Louis. A talk on "Women of Russia" will probably be given by Mme. Nana Selivanova, lately of Petrograd.

According to its custom, the Guild will close its meeting with a banquet in the evening for members and invited guests.

Tuesday, May 24, will be devoted to discussions concerning the editorial page and special features of the newspapers. The speakers for this and the following days will be announced later.

Wednesday is to be known as advertising Day. In connection with the exercises of this day there are to be interesting exhibits of advertising, including specimens of work done by students in the advertising courses of the Missouri School of Journalism, and also a collection of original drawings and lay-outs for the national advertising campaign of the Old Colony Trust Company of Boston. This exhibit was arranged by the educational committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

Wednesday night the Journalism Week visitors will be shown, on the motion picture screen, the complete process of making news prints, from the logging camp to the moplete product. The film was prepared by the International Paper Company.

Thursday will be the first day of the Missouri Press Association convention. The sessions of this association, like those of the Writers' Guild, are open to the public. All persons interested, and particularly all Missouri newspaper men and women, are urged to be present.

Thursday noon the Journalism Week visitors will be guests of the Columbia Commercial Culb at a luncheon at the Daniel Boone Tavern.

Either Thursday or Friday the program probably will include several one-act plays designed to illustrate the progress of the small-town newspaper to modern conditions. The plays are being prepared by the advertising department of the School of Journalism in co-operation with the officers of the Missouri Press Association.

The Nationally Advertised Banquet Friday night will be held in Rothwell Gymnasium.

Attendance at Journalism Week this year is expected to be considerably larger than has been the case any year since the United State entered the war. For one thing, the return of the railroads of the country to private ownership has again made it possible for the roads to exchange transportation for advertising. Four railroads have announced they will do this for editors attending Journalism Week.
